Supplementary charge for industrial power transmission rubber belts

Dear Sir/Madam,

over the last couple of month we have seen serious shortages and price increases for all kind of raw material, especially for rubber. These enormous cost increases are causing huge problems, even though we adjusted our prices in May this year already.

At current stage, raw material prices reached such a high level, where we feel ourselves unable covering such costs on our own. We therefore decided to introduce a material surcharge based on our current gross price list.

Please kindly note that our gross prices will change with effect 1. Nov. 2011 by:

Linear 6% on industrial power transmission rubber belts

As mentioned earlier, the supplementary charge has a temporary character, means we will take back this surcharge, as soon as raw material prices are seriously down. In such case, we will send a further information on this.

We kindly ask for your understanding on this necessity and we are looking forward to an ongoing partnership with you.

Yours sincerely,

R. Arning
